Field Trials

Purpose of Field Trials:

Field Trials are of special value to breeders for the selection of working strains of gundogs, to shooters looking for the right type of dog with working ability, and to handlers wishing to gain experience in the handling of their dogs. The purpose of Field Trials is to test dogs for their suitability as gundogs. The judge's task is the assessment of the dogs proficiency at work. Officials and competitors should make themselves familiar with the Field Trial rules and ensure that trials are efficiently run and are enjoyable and sporting occasions. Inexperienced handlers will need encouragement and clear instruction from Judges and each dog should be given every opportunity to show his working ability.

The Irish Kennel Club Ltd.

Every year approximately 200 Clubs, Associations and Societies nominate their Representatives to attend the monthly meetings of the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. They form "An Ard Comhairle" which is the governing body of the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. They approve all major decision of the Club.

An Ard Comhairle at their January meeting delegate some of the administrative and research work to various sub-committees for the year. They are

1. The General Purposes Committee who are the Board of Directors for the year.
2. The Field Trials Committee who look after Field Trials for Gundogs.
3. The Green Star and Judges Committee who peruse all show Judges and determine the Green Stars index for Shows.
4. The Obedience and Agility Committee who look after Obedience and Agility Competitions.
5. The Appeals Committee who hear appeals against disciplinary decisions.

They also elect the President, Vice- President and the Treasurer.

“The Field Trial Committee”

An Ard Chomhairle elects seven (7) members to form the Field Trial Committee. This committee elect their Chairman and also have the option to co-opt a further three (3) members should they be required. They usually meet once a month and, if necessary, additional meetings are arranged. The Field Trial Committee are responsible for the overseeing and authorisation of all Field Trial and Working test events. The Field Trial Committee in consultation with Field Trial clubs reserve the right to alter, amend or redefine at any time the contents of this book, subject to approval from an Ard Chomhairle

 - (c) Lowest numbered dogs shall always be on the Judge’s left hand side when both Judge and dog are facing in the same direction.
 - (d) In the event of Judges having to separate, one Judge will take all odd numbered dogs, the second Judge will take all even numbered dogs. Under such circumstances dogs will still be called in numerical order. Judge in consultation with the Steward of the beat will decide before the commencement of the Trial if dogs should be called in the order they appear in the programme of “odds” and “even” (Rule 4).
 - (e) Pointers and Setters only. Whenever there is a draw, that is the first and subsequent draws, the dog with the first number out shall be on the left.
- Rule 26. Competing Dogs in Second and Subsequent Rounds
- After the first round dogs will be called at the Judge’s discretion.
- Rule 27. Physical Condition of Any Dog
- (a) If the Judges consider that a dog is unfit to compete by reason of sexual causes, disease or hysteria or any other fault which might reasonably be regarded as likely to jeopardise the safety or chances of his opponents winning, the dog must be removed immediately by its handler from the trial and from the ground, upon being requested to do so by the Judges or other official appointed by the Judges. The entry fee for such entry shall be forfeited and any such case shall be liable to be reported to the Irish Kennel Club Ltd., by the Judges or by the Secretary of the Society.
 - (b) A dog which is in season is debarred from competing or being in the precincts of a Field Trial.

- (c) The owner of a dog which is in season at the time of the Trial or is unfit to run, is at liberty to substitute another dog under the same ownership provided:
 - (i) That the dog has qualified to run under the Field Trial Rules and Regulations.
 - (ii) That the approval of the Field Trials Secretary has been obtained.

Rule 28. Dogs at Field Trials

Dogs must be kept on a lead at all times except when under Judges instructions. The control of all matters connected with dogs under Trial shall rest with the Judges at the meeting. The Competitor is solely responsible at all times during the continuance of the event for keeping his dog under proper control. A Judge is empowered to expel from the ground, or otherwise, any dog which is so aggressive or undisciplined as to interfere with the performance of any other dog competing (Rule 27).

Rule 29. Unpunctuality

Dogs must be run in the order in which they are drawn. A dog which is not present when required by the Judge shall be disqualified. In the first round its place shall be taken from the appropriate Reserve (Rule 25).

Rule 30. Accessories

It shall be at the sole discretion of the Judges as to what article if any, a competitor may carry.

Rule 31. Wearing a Collar

No dog shall be permitted to wear any collar or harness except with the permission of the Judges and then only for the purpose of identification.

Rule 32. Handling of Dogs

- (a) All handlers must obey the orders of the Judges. A handler failing to obey the Judges' instructions may be immediately disqualified.
- (b) A handler must stand upright when in line except when accepting a retrieve or giving a direction.
- (c) If in the opinion of the Judge a handler who takes unfair advantage or is in any way unsporting may be expelled from the event or the ground.
- (d) Handlers are at liberty to extricate their dogs from wire etc. and are not to be penalised for so doing.
- (e) Handlers are at liberty to refuse to send their dogs over barbed wire or any obstacle likely to cause injury to the dog. Where such an obstacle exists the dog may be assisted without penalty. The amount of assistance shall be at the discretion of the Judges (Rule 24).
- (f) Dogs must not be handled while competing, without the judges permission.

Rule 33. Prize Money

All prize money offered must be paid out within one month of clearance by the Irish Kennel Club Ltd.

- Rule 34. Awards

- Rule 35. Equal Awards
It is prohibited to give equal awards for any prizes offered at a Field Trial or Test.
- Rule 36. Withholding of Awards
Judges are empowered and instructed to withhold any placing or prize award and Championship points if in their opinion, the dog or dogs competing do not show sufficient merit, or if the supply of game is insufficient to enable the judges to reach a decision (rule 50)
- Rule 37. Awards Other Than Prizes
Diplomas of Honour at a Championship Stake and Certificate of Merit at an Open Field Trial may be awarded by the Judges on the day to dogs which in their opinion, were of sufficient merit to warrant such commendation. Only dogs categorised at least "Good" shall receive such an award (Rule 50).
- Rule 38. Order of Merit Following Disqualification
If a prize winner is disqualified, the dogs next in consecutive order of merit, as placed by the judges and awarded not less than fourth (4th) place may be moved into the higher place in the prize list. See Rule 50 B and Rule 36.
- Rule 39. Referee
In the event of two or more Judges differing on the merits of a dog:
(a) The majority decision shall count.
(b) When the Judges are equally divided in their opinions, a referee must be appointed by the Club to decide between the dogs in question (Rule 35).
- Rule 40. Appointment of Judges
(a) The Judges for Field Trials shall be appointed by the Society and must be approved by the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. If any Judge is unable to act the Society may appoint another instead. In such cases, the issue of a Green Star or Championship Points shall be subject to the approval by the Irish Kennel Club Ltd., of the substitute Judge (Rule 14 [d]) (Rule 42 [f]).
(b) The Irish Kennel Club Ltd., shall issue to Societies, panels of Judges for Field Trials.
(c) Applications for inclusion and promotion in the official list of Field Trial Judges will be considered at the March meeting of the Field Trial Committee and those recommendations from affiliated clubs/societies should be with the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. no later than the last day of the Month of January of that year." (See Chapter 4).
(d) As and from the adoption of these Rules the appointment of Judges to any panel shall be from year to year. The Field Trial Committee at its discretion or on a recommendation of any affiliated club with Field Trial interests may delete or retain the services of any Judge included on the panel in any previous year.

- (e) List of approved Judges - only judges normally resident in Ireland will be included in the Irish Kennel Club Ltd., list of Judges.
- (f) Judges on lists of other Kennel Clubs recognised by the Irish Kennel Club Ltd., must be approved by the Field Trial Committee of the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. prior to appointment.
- (g) Before a candidate can be considered for addition to any panel on the list of Field Trial Judges he must be recommended by a Gundog Society/Club with Field Trial interests, which is affiliated to the Irish Kennel Club and the candidate must have the following experience..... (See "C" above and Chapter 4).

Panel A:

Guide to Field Trial Judging

This Guide is intended to assist Judges in their selection of the best dog on the day and should not be interpreted as Rules

Judges should make themselves conversant with all the Rules and Regulations of the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. and study the Guide carefully.

Competitors should always remember this Guide does not bind a Judge to the suggested procedures, it is more of a Guideline from which a Judge's good sense and experience will take advantage.

Duties of the Judges:

Judges should take the opportunity to get on good terms with officials, handlers and guns before the start, to create an atmosphere of friendliness and confidence. They should consult with the Steward of the Beat regarding beats and availability of game, and ensure that arrangements have been made for picking up wounded game which is not required or which competitors have filed to find. They should decide which of them is going to give instructions and get handlers and guns together before the start and explain how the Trials will be conducted and what is expected of the handlers and guns.

Judges should co-operate with the Chief Steward regarding procedures and conduct of the Trials in accordance with the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. Rules. At the conclusion of the Trials they will be required to sign a Certificate of Competency in accordance with the appropriate section (See also Rule 50), stating they are satisfied that there has been a sufficiency of game to test the dogs fully and that dogs placed have met the basic requirements of their breed.

Judges should take short notes on each dog's performance. It is suggested that dog's performance be marked:- A+/, A/, A-/, B+/, B/, B-/ etc. In all cases of doubt the dog should always have the benefit of such doubt. Judges' Stewards shall assist in whatever capacity the Judge shall direct. They will always be at hand to ensure the smooth running of the Trial and act as a link between handlers and Judge.

"C" Judge at Field Trials should consider themselves as in an apprenticeship capacity. They will always be accompanied by an "A" Judge. They should keep a Judges book assessing the dogs performance and at a convenient time discuss with the "A" Judge such assessment. The "A" Judge may require a "C" Judge to assist in the judging by acting as an additional pair of eyes or ears. On such occasions he should officiate as directed by the "A" Judge.

Prior to the start of the trial the "C" Judge should request from the "A" Judge exactly what his function at the Trial should be

"B" Judge at Field Trials will be partnered by an "A" Judge. The "B" Judge should discuss his marking with the "A" Judge and should take into account the experience and knowledge of the "A" Judge when making his assessment. Such assessment should always be his independent opinion.

"A" Judge at Field Trials will assume the command of judging arrangements at the trial. In the event of two "A" Judges the senior Judge will take command. In the event of a Foreign Judge the Irish Judge will be regarded as senior.

The senior Judge is the longest serving Judge on the "A" list of the appropriate section.

In addition the "A" Judge should assume a guiding role. He should discuss with the "B" and "C" Judge in an objective manner the performance of the dogs, analysing situations which may arise, listening to the juniors assessment, and reasons for decisions taken. The senior Judge will take the lowest or odd numbered dogs. He will ensure that the Trial is run in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. He must have available a copy of the Field Trial Rules for reference.

He must record his assessment of the "B" and "C" Judges on the official FCTI Form, as the Irish Kennel Club Ltd. will require his informed opinion regarding subsequent promotions.

In the event of Judges failing to agree the organising Society shall nominate a referee (Rule 39).

Field Trial Judges shall not award Championship Points on more than four occasions in any one year as defined in Definitions (e), Chapter 1. See Rule 42 (a), Chapter 2).1

Section 2.

Judging Breeds which Retrieve

A dog can only perform as well as the occasion will permit. Dogs which get an easy retrieve must be rewarded for the way the task is performed and not on the degree of difficulty of the task

A Trial should resemble a days shooting where possible.

When there is any doubt about a retrieve a Judge should satisfy himself that the retrieve is possible.

A dog making a retrieve from cover, should such a retrieve be hung-up or impossible, may sometimes bark or whine - likewise a dog which hurts itself may yelp, this should not be confused with the eliminating fault of barking or whining.

A dog, which catches live game, will be eliminated. However, Judges must satisfy themselves that such game was not injured or unhealthy in any way. Game pinned by a dog if released undamaged on command should not be eliminated.

All game when retrieved should be handed immediately to the Judge who shall examine it for signs of hard mouth, the rib cage of the retrieved game should be round and firm. The best method of making this examination is by placing the retrieve on its back and feeling the rib cage with thumb and forefinger. If there is any sign of caved in or crushed ribs this is usually a sign of hard mouth. The damage to the retrieve should be shown to the other Judge as soon as possible. The Judge's decision is always final but Judges should show the damage retrieve to the handler before eliminating the dog from the Trial.

Judges, their Stewards and officials who are aware of a "hard mouth" decision should treat such occurrence with the upmost tact and discretion. Under no circumstances should such decisions become the occasion of a public affair.

The dog should always get the benefit of any doubt regarding how the game was damaged. Superficial damage to birds may be caused in many ways - a bird shot at close range - or injury in a the fall or - a difficult retrieve when a bird digs in to cover the dog may damage the bird trying to pull it clear. All look bad but should not be confused with hard mouth.

Excessively long, blind retrieves are undesirable, a dog should be brought to within a reasonable distance of the fall and then sent. In the case of runners which the dog has not marked, the dog should be brought close to the fall. A dog should not have to be handled after it has located the fall. Runners or wounded game should always be collected first and without delay.

A dog performing indifferently on a runner should be called up promptly. Where more than one dog is tried on a runner, assessment of the dogs work must be in relation to the order in which they were tried.

Judges should carefully consider before sending a dog for a retrieve which has been submerged in water. Handlers should be instructed from where to send their dogs. Judges should give reasonable directions as to the location of the retrieve. The wind direction and the possibility of the dog being able to see the handler should also be taken into consideration before sending a dog.

When a number of dogs have been tried and have failed on a retrieve, the Judge should not look for it unless he decides that no more dogs should be tried. Once a Judge has looked for and found the retrieve, then no more dogs should be tried on it. Only those authorised by the Judge or Judges should look for lost retrieves. Judges should assess the performance of the dog in a “no bird” situation.

Pigeons and rabbits should be regarded as a suitable substitute for game when retrieving (Rule 1).

A dog, which has been “eye-wiped”, shall be eliminated. (The fact that a dog has “eye-wiped” other dogs does not automatically place such dogs higher than other successful competitors.) “Eye-wipes” can sometimes be easy retrieves badly performed.

A bird, which falls close to, a dog and which would make a retrieve of no value:

- (a) Should be offered to the other Judge, or
- (b) The competing dog should be moved to a new position, making sure not to leave a line of scent to the retrieve, or
- (c) Should be picked by hand, or
- (d) Used by a previous competitor to complete their programme.

Good marking is essential in a retrieving dog, as it should not disturb ground unnecessarily. Full credit must be given to the dog which does straight to the fall and collects his retrieve. The pick-up should be quick with a fast return and good delivery. The handler should not snatch or have to drag game from the dog.

Dogs which adjust their grip on a retrieve should not be penalised, always remembering not to confuse adjusting a grip with “sloppy retrieving”. A good game finding retriever should not rely on his handler to find the retrieve for it.

Dogs with good game finding ability should get more credit than dogs requiring handling. Where possible, dogs should be given both fur and feather to retrieve.

A dog should be obedient and respond to the handler’s directions any signals where necessary.

A dog, which has had a gruelling search or quartering session, should not be severely marked down for putting down game to take a firmer grip, this applies especially to dog mastering a runner.

Speed of return should be considered in relation to the work leading to a retrieve.

Section 3.

Judging Breeds which Point

Every effort shall be made to minimise, as far as possible, the luck of the draw.

The Judges shall not decide on the merits of a dog's running from the number of times it points game or backs, but from the style and quality of its performance.

Judges shall penalise dogs, which are given to false pointing. Dogs must maintain a fast pace, quarter ground with judgement and regularity, wide or narrow, as the conditions demand, leave no birds behind them, be obedient and easily handled.

No handler shall cross between another handler and his dog if wishing to change sides.

Backing is the instinctive taking up of a pointing attitude and stance in seeing another dog on point. Judges should give preference to a dog which backs naturally rather than to a dog, which only backs to order. When a dog is on point the handler of the other dog (should his dog not already have observed and acknowledged the point of its own accord) shall draw his dog's attention to such a point by hand, whistle or both, and should his dog still fail to observe and acknowledge such a point, it shall be considered to have failed to back.

Dogs must be worked together and their handlers must walk within reasonable distance of each other, as though shooting together. After a caution a Judge or Judges may disqualify the dog whose handler persists in neglecting this instruction.

Judges should keep up with handlers.

Where there is a bye dog, it should keep up with the Judge at all times and if a dog is eliminated for any reason, the bye dog may take its place.

Dogs should, where possible, get the benefit of a favourable wind. If a dog flushes game upwind it should be discarded. If, however, the dog is running downwind and drops when the bird gets up this should not be regarded as a flush and the dog should not be discarded.

No dog shall get credit for work done outside its beat, but dogs which commit an eliminating fault outside their beat should be eliminated. Judges should be satisfied before refusing to acknowledge work outside of a given beat that the dog was not drawn into the position by scent of game.

Section 4.

Judging Spaniel Breeds

The sub-section dealing with Retrievers should be read in conjunction with the above. Spaniels at work should be a pleasure to watch, always gay and always in tune with their handler.

The dogs should have drive, with good ground treatment and always working within range of the gun. Courage, determination and style, but above all else, the Spaniel in the field is firstly a game finder.

In the event of a dog failing to retrieve: The other dog in line should always get the option of the retrieve. Where appropriate surplus game on the ground should be utilised to enable dogs having already finished their run to complete their programme of requirements. A Judge may call on his next dog to make a retrieve only if the other dog in the field is not within easy reach or if such a retrieve is not required by his Co-Judge.

The wind direction will influence the way a Spaniel may work. When working into the wind the dog will quarter the ground systematically, missing nothing. With the wind behind it, it may often go well out (still with gunshot range) and work back towards its handler. When a dog works in this manner Judges must watch the pace of the line (the gun, the Judges, Stewards, etc.) in case they should disturb game.

Game disturbed, which the dog has, no opportunity of finding should be ignored. The Spaniel which hunts foot scents and lines may pass game and should be penalised; "pulling on" as this is described, is bad ground treatment.

If, after several attempts, a dog cannot get game to flush then the handler may stop the dog and get permission from the Judge to go forward and flush the game personally. Game pinned by a dog, if released undamaged on command, should not be eliminated. Some dogs before flushing may point or set, a dog, which hesitates in this fashion should not be penalised, in fact, it is an added refinement. On command, however, the dog must go in and flush; when game is flushed the dog should be steady automatically. The dog should also be steady to shot. A dog, which moves its position to mark, should not be considered unsteady. For example, a dog which is in cover and flushed game, shown intelligence if it moves out into the open to mark the fall. Good marking is to be desired - bad marking is to be penalised.

Section 5.

Judging Dual Purpose Gundogs (Breeds which Hunt, Point and Retrieve)

The sub-section dealing with breeds which Retrieve and breeds which Point should be read in conjunction with the above.

Each dog should, where possible, be given at least two runs - one on open ground such as stubble and another in roots and/or through rough ground taking either or both as they come and at least one water retrieve, provided that the dog has not been eliminated.

Judges should try to ensure equal opportunity as regards ground, wind and time but the first round should be completed while allowing approximately 15 minutes for each dog. The surviving dogs should be more thoroughly tested in the second round. Dogs, when being shot over, may drop to flush but may not stay dropped to shot or fall. It is important that they should mark the fall with a view to the retrieve that follows.

Steadiness to flush shot and fall of game is the standard to be achieved.

No dog shall get credit for work done outside its beat, but dogs which commit an eliminating fault outside their beat should be eliminated. Judges should be satisfied before refusing to acknowledge work outside of a given beat that the dog was not drawn into the position by scent of game.

Game pinned by a dog, if released undamaged on command, should not be penalised.

Waterwork is an essential part of the Trial. The water test may be artificial to the extent that a dead bird may be thrown and a shot fired, nevertheless it must be fully judged, steadiness, direct entry to water, strong swimming, good marking, direct emergence and delivery to hand without putting down to shake. A shooter wants a bird retrieved from or across the water in the minimum of time and with the minimum of handling and whistling. This is the criterion by which the Judges should mark a dog up or down at the water, taking such marks into consideration when selecting the best all round performer.

Keeness, initiative, courage, method and an air of enjoyment about the dog at his work are very important and should be taken into account by the Judges in their assessments. It may not always be possible to test a dog on his approach to cover, as there may not be any suitable cover in the area of the Trials. Where possible, all dogs should be tested for facing cover, this may be done either by retrieving from or by hunting cover.

Chapter 4

Requirements for the appointment of Field Trial Judges:

This chapter is intended to assist affiliated Clubs when making nominations to the Field Trials Committee for the appointment of new Field Trial Judges and the promotion of existing Judges.

Each candidate whose name is put forward for inclusion or promotion to the approved IKC list of Field Trial Judges, should on requested from the Field Trial Committee submit their Curriculum vitae to the Field Trial Committee

The Rules concerning such nominations must be observed.

The yard stick used by the Field Trial Committee when making their assessments are the requirements as laid down in Rule 40. While it is accepted that there may be exceptions it is anticipated such exceptions will be few.

All prospective Judges must be nominated by a Gundog Societies affiliated to the Irish Kennel Club Ltd,. (See Rule 40(g))

The candidate must be of the highest personal character and integrity and be fully conversant and compliant with the Field Trial Rule and Regulations have a good working knowledge of the various breeds in the appropriate section and be at least eighteen (18) years of age.

Qualifications for inclusion on IKC Ltd. judging panels:

Introductory Panel or "C" Panel.

The minimum requirements for candidates, for inclusion on the "C" list or probationer judges list, of the IKC judging panel are as follows:

A minimum of three (3) years active involvement in field trials in their nominated category and having competed in at least six (6) field trials for their section and must have handled a dog to win a minimum of a 4th place at any trial for that section.

This would establish a solid base for the probationer or "C" judges to develop as a person who has the interest in progressing through the judging panels and would have as their goal the interest of their breed at heart and a desire to be a credible and educated "A" .

Panel "B".

In order to allow progression from the "C" panel to the "B" panel, the following requirements are designed to assist those individuals through the system of judging who have a deep interest in their breeds:

The candidate concerned must have acted as a "C" judge at a minimum of six (6) field trials, three (3) of which must be open qualifying trials and having judged for a minimum of three (3) different clubs/associations or for section five (5) one (1) is acceptable at present over a minimum of three (3) calendar years. A minimum of six (6) different "A" co-judges, are a requirement for progression to this panel.

The written opinions of all the "A" panel co-judges would be sought on the suitability of the candidate for progression must be received in the offices of the IKC within twenty one (21) days of the trial.

The "A" panel co-judges may be duplicated for assessment purposes

The candidate must be actively competing in field trials for the section in which he is progressing as a judge. Evidence of competing in trials for this section will be required.

Panel "A".

Those judges who are promoted to Panel "A" must be fully conversant with the Field Trial rules and regulations of the IKC Ltd., their experienced and knowledge of their breeds should allow them to become "A" judges who know their breeds intimately and who are aware of the need for practical and honest consideration when judging.

The "A" judge should be educated on the working abilities of the breed concerned and also on the breed's limitations, and be actively involved in handling dogs at field trials. This should allow the "A" judge to act in a competent, positive and honest way in his judging appointments.

To progress to the "A" panel from the "B" panel, the candidate must have the following qualifications:

Having judged a minimum of six (6) trials, Five (5) of which must be open qualifying trials over a minimum period of two (2) years with at least a minimum of five (5) different "A" panel judges.

The written opinion from all the "A" co-judges on the suitability of the candidate to progress to the "A" panel must be received in the offices of the IKC Ltd within twenty one (21) days of the field trial. The "A" panel judges may not be duplicated

To have handled a dog to win a First (1st) or Second (2nd) or Third (3rd), categorised Excellent, at an Open Qualifying trial for that section, in which the candidate is progressing.
