Introduction

This is Module One of the Path to Judging, see appendix.

One of the most important tasks for a show committee is to select their stewards with care. A knowledgeable and efficient steward can help make a show a success while a badly prepared and uninterested steward can have the opposite effect.

A good steward makes the work of judging easier by alleviating the judge of unnecessary details. By assembling classes promptly, one will be able to keep the judging on schedule and eliminate, to a large extent, delays between classes and breeds.

Stewarding can often be perceived as hard work with little or no compensation save the satisfaction that comes from the knowledge that the work has been done well.

Main Roles and Responsibilities:

- Assemble classes promptly
- Keep an accurately marked catalogue noting grading, placements, and absentees.
- Prepare prize cards and awards for each breed
- Keep the ring neat and clean

The steward must refrain from discussing the dogs or exhibitors with the judge, and should not, under any circumstances, show the catalogue to a judge. Stewards should not take any part in judging. A steward is there to help rather than advise the judge.

No person should steward for a judge under whom they have an entry on the day or under whom, in the course of the day's judging, such entry may become eligible to compete.

The role of a steward can be very rewarding and can provide an individual the opportunity to learn first-hand from experienced judges. Stewarding is also an important first step to a judging career.

Steps to becoming a Qualified Steward

Attending an Irish Kennel Club Stewarding Seminar is the first step to becoming a qualified Steward. The seminar will take you through all the necessary steps in order for you to achieve your stewarding qualification.

Practical stewarding experience will be required on a number of occasions as part of the qualification. The best way to get this experience is to contact a Show Secretary and volunteer to steward. The Show Secretary will then place you with an experienced steward where you can learn the basics.

In order to be an Irish Kennel Club Qualified Stewards you must:

- Be sixteen years or older.
 - Trainee stewards under the age of sixteen years must be accompanied by a senior steward.
- Attend Stewards Seminar & Successfully Complete the Assessment
- Having successfully completed the assessment and having stewarded at a minimum of six shows, at least four of which must be at Championship level, request Application form from the IKC, and submit Completed Application form to IKC.

Roles of the Ring Steward

- The role of the Ring Steward is to assist the Judge in the smooth and efficient running of the ring.
- Call in exhibits to each class in numerical order
- Follow the Judges direction.

Note: The Judge is in overall charge of the ring.

Responsibilities

The responsibilities of a Ring Steward are not just confined to the day of the show. If you have agreed to Steward at a Dog Show the Chief Steward will have made plans based on your attendance. Before the show the Chief Steward will usually let you know if your ring will be indoors or outdoors, the name of the Judge you will assist and the breeds that will be judged in your ring. This information will help you in your own preparation for the day of the show. If for any reason you cannot attend please let the Chief Steward know as soon as possible. This will give them time to make alternative arrangements before the start of the show.

Day of the Show

Your first duty as a steward on the day of a show is to yourself. You should wear comfortable shoes and dress appropriately for the weather conditions if you are outdoors. You may have a long day ahead of you so it is important that you are comfortable and prepared for the day ahead.

Arrival at the Show

Stewards should report to the Secretaries Office/Chief Steward at least thirty (30) minutes before scheduled judging time. The Chief Steward will then confirm details of your ring and introduce you to your Judge for the day. You will also receive a box containing all the necessary materials for the day.

Before Judging starts

When you collect the box from the Chief Steward you should check that all necessary materials are in the box.

- Catalogues (One for each person stewarding in the ring)
- Judges Book
- Grading Cards
- Judges & Stewards Badges
- Prize Cards
- Pens
- Green Star & Reserve Cards, (CACIB & Reserve Cards where applicable)

- Best of Breed, Best Puppy, Best Veteran Cards
- Rosettes
- Hand Wipes

The Show Ring

On arrival in the show ring the steward should first arrange with the judge locations for

- Table for examining exhibits
- Exhibits waiting to be examined
- Exhibits after examination
- Place Markers for awards

Note: Dogs must always be placed 1st to 4th from left to right. Reverse placings are not allowed.

The steward should also have a general look around the ring to ensure the ring is free from items which may upset exhibits and they should ensure that the order of judging is in place. The steward should then arrange items from the judge's box in a convenient manner to ensure smooth running of classes.

Assembling A Class

Owners or handlers are solely responsible for the presence of their dogs in the ring when their breed is to be judged. The steward should make every effort to notify all exhibitors at ringside who have entries in a given class that the class is about to be judged. The steward must call every entry eligible to compete in a class.

Stewards assemble classes by calling firstly the breed, the class and the numbers of the exhibits entered in the class. As exhibits enter the ring they should be lined up in numerical order in the agreed location. Ring numbers must be displayed and must coincide with the entry in the catalogue. An exhibitor without the correct ring number should not be allowed into the class until the correct number is displayed.

Badges or Rosettes from other competitions cannot be worn in the ring. When the steward observes an exhibitor wearing something which breaches the rule, the steward should inform the exhibitor and ask them to remove the item(s).

Having checked ring numbers the steward should again call the numbers of any exhibits not marked present. Three calls are sufficient, if an exhibit fails to appear it should be called "Absent".

If an owner reports that their exhibit is absent it is not necessary to call this exhibit. The steward should inform the judge of any absentees and all absentees should be recorded in the Catalogue.

The judge should mark the absentees in the judges book.

The Steward must ensure that adequate space is maintained between exhibits at all times. Exhibitors failing to heed the stewards request to move should be reported to the judge.

Checklist

- Call each class by Name

- Call each exhibit by Number
- Line up exhibits in numerical order and in the agreed location
- Check all ring numbers
- Following three calls mark all absentees in the catalogue
- Inform the judge of all absentees

Remember that at no time should you call an individual dog or exhibitor by name into the ring.

During Judging

Once the class has been assembled in numerical order, numbers checked and absentees marked the class can then be handed over to the judge. At this point the steward should stand back from the judge and give the judge room to examine and move around the exhibit comfortably.

Badges or Rosettes from other competitions cannot be worn in the ring. When the steward observes an exhibitor wearing something which breaches the rule, the steward should inform the exhibitor and ask them to remove the item(s).

The Steward must ensure that adequate space is maintained between exhibits at all times. Exhibitors failing to heed the stewards request to move should be reported to the judge.

When the judge has finished assessing the exhibit ask for the Grading. Mark the Grading Card as directed and hand to the exhibitor.

Notes

- The steward must never offer or express any opinion on an exhibit being shown in the ring.
- Grading cards must be given to the exhibitor after each exhibit has been examined. It is against Irish Kennel Club rules to do otherwise.
- If a judge fails to observe the correct procedures in relation to Grading Cards the steward should inform the Judge of the correct procedure. If at this point the Judge still does not follow the correct procedure, the steward should immediately inform the Show Manager or appropriate Show Official

As the judging of the class continues the Steward should be watchful for a number of issues

- Late comers should only be allowed into the ring with the Judge's permission. An exhibitor wishing to enter the ring after judging has commenced must ask the steward who will in turn seek permission from the Judge. The Judge's decision is final.
- If the steward observes double handling and /or interference from outside the ring he / she should inform the Judge.
- No unauthorised persons are allowed into the ring. Only the Judge, Steward, Show Official and Exhibitors exhibiting a dog should be in the ring.

Change of Handler

A change of handler may only be allowed into the ring with the Judge's permission. An exhibitor wishing to change the handler of an exhibit (or use a runner) must ask the steward who will in turn seek permission from the Judge. The Judge's decision is final.

If the judge allows a change of handler or use of a runner, the original handler must stand clear of the judge and the dog, and not engage in conversation with the judge while the dog is being moved.

When a Judge has examined all exhibits in the class the exhibits should again be lined up. In the event of some exhibits receiving a lesser grading, they may be placed in grading order as opposed to numerical order with the judges agreement. [e.g Dogs graded excellent are lined up in numerical order at the top of the line, followed by dogs graded Very Good, then Dogs Graded Good, etc.]

At this point the Judge may move exhibits again or make a shortlist. When the Judge has reached a decision, from the dogs remaining in the ring he must award 1st to 4th from left to right. The judge will line up the dogs in order, in front of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th placement markers in the ring. If no placement markers are provided winning exhibits should be lined up in the ring from left to right in the clear view of spectators.

Special care should be taken to see that the correct dogs and their handlers go to the appropriate markers. If the handler of a placed dog fails to go to the marker or attempts to leave the ring, remind them that they must go to the marker to receive their award.

Placed exhibitors must remain at the placements in the ring until all ring numbers and awards have been recorded. Exhibitors failing to observe this should be reported to the show secretary on completion of judging.

It is the Judge's responsibility to record all gradings and placing's in their Judges Book. All three columns must be marked identically.

All IKC licensed judges must complete their judges book.

NB: An exception can be made where an overseas judge has a large number of dogs or is not familiar with the paperwork, were upon an experienced steward may complete the judges book for them, but the judge must sign it.

National Shows – only GREEN STARS on offer.

Upon completion of the male exhibit classes, the Green Star Dog competition should take place. The competition for Green Star is restricted to class winners who have been graded excellent or very promising.

The line-up of qualifying exhibits should be in the order agreed with the Judge. The Judge may move the exhibits again before making a decision.

The Green Star Winner is then awarded.

Having awarded the Green Star the Judge may request the dog that was placed second, in the class competition, to the Green Star winner to be called into the ring to be considered for the Reserve Green Star, provided it has been Graded Excellent or Very Promising.

Note:

- An exhibit can only be considered for the Reserve Green Star if it was graded Excellent or Very Promising.
- The Green Star must be awarded before any other exhibit is allowed into the ring to be considered for the Reserve Green Star.

Following the Green Star Dog competition the judging of the Bitch Classes will take place in the same manner as the Dog Classes. The Best of Breed competition takes place after the Green Star Bitch competition.

Withholding of the Green Star:

- Under the Irish Kennel Club system the Excellent Grade indicates Champion Quality. If an excellent grade has been awarded the Green Star must be awarded (no discretion is allowed, the Green Star cannot be withheld).
- The Green Star can be awarded to a Puppy Class winner graded Very Promising, this is at the judge's discretion.
- If the judge has not awarded any class winners the Grade of Excellent or Very Promising, then the Green Star for that sex cannot be awarded.

The Best of Breed competition is confined to the Green Star winners (Dog & Bitch)

When judging of each breed is completed the Best of Breed Slip ("Pink Slip") in the Judges Book must be completed and signed in the appropriate place by both the Judge and the Stewards.

In order to ensure that credit is awarded for stewarding at shows the steward must sign the Best of Breed (pink) slips.

BIS Competition

Best in Show competition is confined to the Group winners, and the procedure is similar to the Group judging process, the exhibits are called into the ring and assembled in group order.

Best Puppy In Show at International shows may be run on a group system or combination of Groups or as a whole. It is normally expected that they will be pre-judged in a similar fashion to the pre-judging of the adult groups.

Best Baby Puppy In Show at National and International shows may run on a Group system or combination of Groups or as a whole. It is normally expected that they will be pre-judged in similar fashion to the pre-judging of the adult Groups.

It should be noted that a brief assessment of Baby Puppies is all that is required.

For each of these competitions where a list is available, the steward must check ring numbers.

Stakes Classes

At All Breed Championship Shows the Stakes classes are considered to be separate competitions. A Best of Breed Winner that is beaten in the Stakes class is still eligible to compete in the Group competition.

All intending exhibits should report for the Stakes class when it is called.

As the exhibits enter the ring the steward should check the ring numbers with those in the catalogue.

Late arrivals are only allowed in with Judges Permission.

Dogs may only leave the ring to compete in breed ring. Exhibits leaving to compete in breed ring, do so at their own risk to get back. The judging of the Stakes competition must not be delayed.

Junior Handling

IKC regulations required that there be a minimum of one steward for every ten junior handlers competing in the ring. The class is judged on the Handling ability and skills only, i.e. not the quality of the dogs

There are three age group classes - Group 1: 10 to 12 years, Group 2: 13 to 14 years, Group 1: 15 to 17 years,

The judge may opt to have handlers swap dogs in the older age group only.

Classes assemble as per age groups, the Steward should check their Ring Numbers against the catalogue.

The Steward must ensure that adequate space is maintained between exhibits at all times. Exhibitors failing to heed the stewards request to move should be reported to the judge.

Winners are placed 1st, 2nd, 3rd & 4th. Any queries raised should be referred to secretary's office.
